

A diagram consisting of a single horizontal line. There are several short vertical line segments intersecting this horizontal line at different positions. From left to right, there are approximately 10 such vertical segments of varying lengths and positions, suggesting a sequence or timeline.